

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

RICHMOND society—matrons and maids, belles and beaux—show a lively interest in the new Country Club, which is soon to render the Westhampton district such an attractive neighborhood. The prospect of a new and beautiful objective point for afternoon drives and outdoor entertainments, a paradise for golfers with an ideal tennis court and all sorts of indoor equipments, seems entirely alluring.

Young girls, and women in general, for that matter, would like to skip the time required for the laying off of grounds and the erection of buildings, and enter at once into the joys of possession. Such a country club as that, which is proposed, will be a great added social attraction to the city, and furnish the means for a great amount of pleasant entertainment from the women of Richmond toward their friends and visitors.

DEAD MEN'S NAMES ON HIS PAY ROLL

Attorney for Perdee Makes Sensational Statement as to Yardmaster Stewart, Who Explains.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., July 21.—A sensational statement was made today when Charles U. Harris, as counsel for Frank Perdee, the ex-car inspector for the Seaboard Air Line, convicted last evening of stealing hams and other freight from a car last March, appealed to the court for a new trial for his client, on the ground that he felt that he, as counsel, had failed to do his duty by the prisoner in the first trial, in that he failed to attack the character of H. J. Stewart, yardmaster for the Seaboard here, on the ground that he is now charged with and suspended from work on a much more serious offense than that for which he had prosecuted Perdee.

Explaining further, Mr. Harris informed the court that Stewart was suspended from duty by the Seaboard, superintendent on the charge of reporting on his yard pay roll a number of negro men who were not employed, and in one or more instances were actually dead, and also taking these checks and cashing them for his own benefit.

Judge Neal declined to grant the new trial, but took occasion to say that he was deeply impressed with the case of Perdee, the circumstantial evidence against whom seemed to warrant the jury in giving a verdict of guilty, in spite of the fact that he had up to the time of the alleged crime maintained a clean record, and that he would defer judgment in the case for a while.

At the request of counsel, H. J. Stewart was allowed to make a statement in his own behalf. He said that Mr. Harris had been presenting him in the wrong light; that while he was charged with the acts, as stated by Mr. Harris, there was an investigation by the Seaboard authorities only yesterday, at which he was exonerated from all charges, and that he was now in the hands of the law, and that he had properly signed a duty that he had erroneously laid largely to the chief clerk. He said further that his information was that unless there were further developments of charges against him he would be reinstated as yardmaster. The superintendent, he said, had been quoted to him as saying this.
